

LONG YEARS AGO

Wednesday, July 27, 1904

The boiler and engine at the saw factory are about placed in position the mason work being almost completed.

Ben Hunsperger has the best field of wheat in Alberta.

The cause of the haze which surrounds Didsbury is due to the fires raging in the mountains.

The crops in the southern part of Alberta are all drying up. No rain has fallen for some time.

Liesemer and Studer have received a load of salt, all kinds, rock salt, fine, coarse, etc. Also a car of Ogilvie's Royal Household flour, bran and shorts.

The best move yet made by our town was the sending of the sample of grains grown in this district to the Winnipeg Exhibition. This move will do much towards the advertising of the vicinity as a grain growing land.

FAMILY REUNION

July 17 was a day to be remembered for Mrs. Orville Gilmore when all of her brothers and sisters, and all of her sons and daughters visited her at one time. Among those present were her brothers, Tom Peterson of Craigville and Mr. El Peterson of Didsbury; her sisters, Mrs. Hostvedt of Port Angeles, Mrs. Wm. McCormack of Bergen and Mrs. Baptiste of Didsbury; her daughters, Mrs. Alfred Aleck of Brooks and Mrs. Norman Osborne of Westward Ho; and her sons, Mr. Albert Gilmore of Harman and Mr. Howard Gilmore of Didsbury. Also a number of grandchildren and other relatives.

Large black clouds of smoke on the north edge of town Tuesday morning were caused by the burning of the road oil which was scattered when the tank car was damaged in the train wreck last week.

EVANGELICAL W.M.S. CONVENTION

At the Alberta Camp on July 19 to 21 the 12th annual convention of the W.M.S. was held. The Vice President, Mrs. A.G. Knopp of Vancouver presided. The theme for the convention was "For the Demand of the Kingdom."

The welcome address was given by Mrs. J.V. Berscht of Didsbury.

WALTER FULKERTH TO JUDGE HORSES AT LETHBRIDGE

Mr. Walter Fulkert has been invited to judge the light and saddle horses at the Lethbridge Fair, and has left for Montana, where he will attend some of the fairs to brush up on placing the light horses, returning to the Lethbridge Fair on his way home.

BUILDING MATERIAL NOW AVAILABLE FOR VETERANS

The Provincial government has purchased a number of war camps which have been declared surplus, and buildings in these camps are being carefully dismantled and the material made available for home building. Veterans are being given the first priority on individual applications.

The material being recovered covers a very wide range and includes dimension lumber, wall board, plaster board, 3-ply, wash basins, toilets, shingles, doors, windows, electric wiring and fixtures, rock wool insulation, etc. The latter percentage of this material is coming out in first class condition and is being sold to veterans at much below the cost of similar new material.

No application forms are necessary. The applicant has merely to send in his requirements in letter form addressed to: Director of Housing, Dept. of Economic Affairs, Provincial Building, Edmonton.

Applicant for material should include service particulars in his letter to identify himself as a veteran.

And Mrs. Knopp responded. There were delegates from Medicine Hat, Little Plume, Torrington, Three Hills, New Serepta, Regina, Vancouver and Didsbury.

Throughout the convention among other things taken up was the memorial day of Dr. Susan Bauerfeld to be observed in all W.M.S. organizations throughout the conference of the Evangelical church.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Guerneke, Melville, Sask.; 1st Vice, Mrs. Knopp, Vancouver, B.C.; 2nd Vice, Mrs. W.W. Krueger, Regina, Sask.; Secretary, Mrs. R.G. Francis, Didsbury; Treasurer, Mrs. G.S. Mazgiz, Regina.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF DAIRY CALF CLUB

There were 52 entries in the Didsbury Calf Club Fair, held Wednesday morning, July 17th, in connection with the 41st annual exhibition of the Didsbury Agricultural Society.

18 members showed calves, which were divided into two groups for judging. This was done because in the past those with older calves had considerable advantage over those who had to buy calves, and possibly could not obtain them until spring.

Mr. Victor Bjorkland of Red Deer judged the calves, making his awards according to the conformation of the calf, the way it was fitted and the way it was handled in the show ring.

Awards for calves born between Jan. 1st, 1946 and March 30 were as follows:

Awards for calves born after April first, but at least six weeks old, were as follows:

1st, J. Parker; 2nd, Gary Gibbs; 3rd, Alice Bruce; 4th, Margaret Atkinson; 5th, Walter Sheld. Of the nine calves shown in this class, eight were Holsteins and one was an Ayrshire.

The three best showmen of each class competed for champion showing of the club. This was won by 13 year old Alice Bruce, with Bud Webb winning second and Cleone Webb third.

This was the third Calf Club Fair the two year old heifers had been shown at. First prize was won by Jeanette Worral, with an Ayrshire. Jeanette is now milking on R. O. P. tests, five of the cows she has formerly shown as calves at the Calf Club Fair. Second award went to Alice Bruce; 3rd, Jim Clarke; 4th, Ken Morris; 5th, Margaret Atkinson.

1st, Alice Bruce; 2nd, J. Clark; 3rd, Ken Morris.

WESTCOTT NEWS NOTES

What a surprise! Westcott school has received a coat of paint on the outside! We're wondering whether anything is being done to the inside to go along with the nice new desks, etc.

ANOTHER LAND MARK HAS BEEN REMOVED

Sometime ago a number of old barns in Didsbury were reported to have been torn down or remodelled. Now other residents of town are removing these unsightly buildings from their premises. J. V. Berscht has disposed of his barn to Carleton Leeson and the building was removed from its location last week end. In its place Mr. Berscht plans to erect a small garage building to house his car, and at the same time improve his property by removal of the old land mark. Also adding the modern structure in its place.

The New Ration Books

IT WAS ANNOUNCED recently that in September, the sixth ration book will be distributed in Canada. There was a time when it appeared that ration book number five would be the last one to be issued, and that by the time the coupons in it had been exhausted, conditions would be such that rationing would no longer be necessary. On the contrary the world food situation is now more serious than it was at any time during the war, and the necessity for the continuation of rationing here is apparent to everyone. We also know that under our present system we are infinitely better off than the people of Britain, Europe and the Orient; and in many Canadian homes today there is voluntary rationing of foods which can be shipped abroad.

Should Be Ready To Co-operate

In announcing the decision to issue new ration books, Mr. Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, said: "Continued rationing in Canada is this country's answer to a world crying for help. As long as human beings in so many countries of the world are starving or near starvation, it is unthinkable that Canadians should refuse to do their share in helping out. There will be few who disagree with Mr. Gordon in this respect. As yet, Canada has been untouched by any real food shortage, such as has been experienced in other countries. There are many who believe that before the current world food crises is over, this continent will be more seriously affected than it has yet been. Whatever the situation may be in the future, there is no doubt but that we are at present fortunate in comparison with the people in other parts of the world, and we should be more than willing to co-operate readily in whatever measure of rationing the authorities consider to be necessary."

Many Volunteer Workers Needed

Distribution of the new ration books will commence on September 9th, and will be issued through the six hundred local ration boards situated across Canada. As in the past, thousands of volunteer workers will be needed to assist in the task of distribution, and an appeal has been issued to all those who are in a position to help, to offer their services as early as possible. Consumers have been asked to keep in mind that much of the responsibility for receiving the new books lies with them, since the books must be called for at the local distributing centre. It has also been pointed out that while books are to be issued throughout the week of September 9th, all local distribution points will not be open continuously during that time, and it is the responsibility of the consumer to find out at what times the centre in his locality is to be open. For their own convenience, and in the interest of saving the local ration board time and trouble, citizens should make every effort to co-operate fully in securing their new ration books promptly.

Life Savings

Not So Easy Now To Live On The Low Interest Rate

Until a few years ago scores of thousands of Canadians could contemplate secure retirement on life savings of $10,000 to $20,000. A farmer could sell his farm, or a small merchant his store, invest the proceeds at 6% and this income plus that from what he had already saved would allow him to live in comfort the rest of his days. He can't do that now and with interest rates still declining he will be in greater difficulties tomorrow. Twenty thousand dollars invested in good securities gave a man an income of about $100 per month before the war. To get the same income now requires an investment of $100,000. In the meantime those planning retirement face a double squeeze. The tremendous increase in income tax makes it more difficult to accumulate savings and the sharp rise in the cost of living makes a greater income from those savings necessary. — Financial Post (Toronto).

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—What happens to the meat coupons and tokens which are turned in to the Local Ration Boards and voluntary collecting organizations for the supplying of meat to starving people overseas?

A.—All meat tokens and coupons are turned in to the Local Ration Boards by the voluntary organizations and these are counted at regular intervals. The Meat Board then knows exactly how much extra meat will be available for export. Through the coupon collection system, up to the end of May Canadians made 225,000 additional pounds of canned meat available for shipment to the hungry.

Q.—Instead of turning in meat coupons and tokens which will not be needed for a family's own use, would it not be just as well to destroy these coupons at home rather than send them to the Local Ration Board or to some voluntary collecting organization?

A.—If you destroyed these tokens and coupons in your own home, the Meat Board would have no way of checking on how much meat was being used by you. For every valid meat coupon and token you turn in, the authorities know definitely that that much less meat will be needed to meet the ration.

Q.—How many canning sugar coupons are allowed us this year?

A.—Ten coupons have been validated for the purchase of canning sugar, each coupon being good for one pound of sugar. On May 2 the first five coupons were declared valid and on July 4 the remaining five were validated. The coupons used for the purchase of this sugar are the sugar preserves, and, if canning sugar is not required, the coupons may be used for the purchase of preserves.

BEST JOB IN WORLD

Farmers Overcame Great Odds And Tipped Scales Of Victory

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture agreed with the proposal of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association to join with them in a nationwide "Salute to Agriculture". The weekly newspaper is, perhaps, closer to the food than any person or collection of persons outside the profession of farming itself. Farm people are our neighbors, and as we have mentioned many times during the war years, we are proud of our neighbors, and their great war record.

Only the armed services gave more than our farmers; few, very few, others gave as much. They overcame great odds and great handicaps, in lack of help, if worn and entirely inadequate machinery, and the weariness that years bring on men and on women. But in the face of all this they actually increased food production by over 40 per cent, and by so doing they tipped the scales of victory.

But having won the battle, are we going to win the peace? No peace will ever survive in a hungry world. And the world is hungry today. In fact the forecast from Great Britain is that three times as many people will die of starvation in the next six months as were killed in the whole of the war, and the number of potential famine victims at the end of six months is estimated at 60,000,000 dead.

This is the picture that faces our farm producers. Will they live up to it and surmount it? Undoubtedly they will, just the same as they did during the long six years of war. No one outside of the farmers themselves will ever know how hard a task it will be, but sometimes we wonder if they are not just a little pessimistic about their work and their profession. In one breath they deplore the terrible hardships of the farm, and the next day deplore the leaving of their sons and daughters from the farms to the cities.

Such pessimism will never improve agricultural conditions. In fact, until farmers come to realize this, there never will be an improvement. Every farmer should read and memorize the words of the Canadian Minister of Agriculture, spoken in the House of Commons: "If we want to keep our boys on the farms, we shall have to preach a different kind of philosophy from what is being preached today in this House and elsewhere. We must preach the philosophy that there is nothing better, or more worthwhile, than producing food and clothing, the two things that are necessary to all of us. If farming, producing the things we need most, is not considered the best of all the professions or trades, or whatever you like to call it, there is something wrong with our way of thinking. We believe that farming is the best profession, or trade, or whatever you like to call it, in all the world. And that it is getting better all the time. That is why we join in a salute to agriculture, not only for its war effort and victory, but for the effort will, without a question of doubt, put forth in the peace."

Canada Is Second Country In The World To Have Uranium Pile

Canada is the second country in the world to have a moderator-stabilized uranium pile. Dr. L. G. Cook of the Atomic Energy Division, National Research Foundation, revealed in a pamphlet being published for the annual conference of the Chemical Institute of Canada.

The pamphlet discloses for the first time some of the facts of Canadian atomic research and predicts Canadian scientists will be among the first to experiment with radioactive elements, to develop special medical treatments and to unravel scientific and medical mysteries.

Everybody's Problem

People Should Realize Farmers' Troubles Affect Whole Community

It has been long noted that the farmer is one of the greatest of gamblers, says the London, Ont., Free Press. He is dealing constantly with a complex of forces most of which are out of his control. And sometimes we forget that we are all partners in his gamble. If the turn of the dice in this case the weather, goes against the farmer it may well be that many of the rest of us will go hungry. Accordingly, we should realize that the farmers' problems are problems for the whole community.

Youth Problem In Germany Appears To Be Aggravated By Lack Of A Proper Plan

(By Robert Keyserling)

FRANKFORT-AM-MAIN—No nation in history, maybe with the exception of Carthage, has ever been so thoroughly beaten as Germany. No nation's youth today presents such a danger to the peace of the world as Germany's. That is as paradoxical as the methods applied to eradicate Nazism from Germany. As a nation, Germany today no longer exists but as a people they threaten to affect the lives of millions not only in Europe but in North America.

"If the people on the other side of the Atlantic are too engrossed with domestic affairs to follow the events here they are not only missing the biggest story in their lifetime, but will be shocked back into reality which is in the making for them right here," a young American captain who had to cope with the baffling problem for months as military governor of a district told me.

The complete lack of a plan for Germany has imposed an impossible task of improvisation on the administrator, who with the best of intentions are in the majority of cases, neither aware of what he is stepping into nor sufficiently familiar with the psychological intricacies of Europe to realize the effect of many actions.

Aside from the ever present need for food and for the most essential necessities of a semblance of civilized life for the people, the greatest problem seems to be German youth. Until about a year ago they were probably the most rigidly organized youth anywhere. They professedly mistrust, the same as old Germans, any party organization. As one German party official said, whether he now belonged to any party:

"Not me. I managed to escape joining the Nazi party because I worked in my father's small business, so I did not need to."

"But the parties now in Germany are all permitted by the Allies. They are safe for you to join," I retorted, suggesting that all men tend to be interested in politics.

"Look here," my German interlocutor said, "how do I know that the parties permitted today won't be outlawed tomorrow, and then where do I stand? I remember, when the Allies recognized the Nazi state, received Nazi ambassadors and dealt with them. They were also all right once upon a time and today they were murderers and traitors. How do I know what the leaders of a party which is all right today might do tomorrow—and then you would come back at me? If I retorted, a secret ballot when I am pretty sure it will remain my secret."

"Few young men take an active interest in politics," he said, "and in the Third Reich most were 'Gleichgeschaltet' which means Naziized, have been suppressed. The only groups that have kept themselves clear of Nazi influence have been the Protestant church organizations of the confessional movement, and they were mostly driven underground by Hitler and hence led a semi-catacomb existence with only handfuls of members among the young, and Catholic organizations which right up to the end the Nazis did not dare to touch."

This life has now been seriously curtailed by the military government. As one senior American official put it, the hopeless situation into which a number of administrators got themselves has been due to the complete lack of experience of junior officers who suddenly find themselves confronted with and wielding the most tremendous authority.

This official cited two cases to illustrate how anti-Nazi forces have not been fully utilized, but often alienated. The official statement of the Paula conference, the Catholic hierarchy of Germany, had to be submitted to an American censor. It was turned back to 75-year-old Cardinal Faulhaber by a 25-year-old captain with the injunction to change this and that. The man who had fought the Nazis for years and who still holds the place where the bullets heaped behind him in his office, fired at his palace by a Nazi mob told this official: "Am I a school boy to have my throne seat back to me with the mistakes crossed out in red pencil?" The cardinal refused. The letter was then published unchanged in the British zone and circulated by hand throughout the American zone, but the feeling created was bad.

"The American official has a letter in his possession written to a German master by a young captain, refusing some request, which ends up, 'The money you learn to do exactly what he says the better, or you and your subordinates will be placed in confinement.' The young captain has since been removed but the fact is known and spreads. Such stories can only spread in a country which has no real news to read or hear."

All parish activities outside the parish walls have been prohibited but religious and communal are not sufficient for the formation of the young, while all games, sports and group activities are banned "as the beginning of militarism," another official, who is himself an educator, explained.

The youth of the country are standing aside and watching. They cannot take up a profession because there is no work available as yet, until an economic plan has been set upon. They have a lot of time on their hands and they can observe the soldiers of occupation engaging in a lusty and flourishing black market barter from cigarettes to more extensive transactions, only some of which have found echoes in courts martial. Only if one realizes that the U.S. soldiers' remittances of pay home equal and formerly exceeded the full pay drawn by the soldiers, and at the same time sees the lavishness of some of the spending, one can begin to understand the black market operations of the occupying army. And the youth of Germany stand by and watch. Sometimes they engage actively and help.

Whatever ideas they are receiving from their observations both as far as administration is concerned—which in some cases out-Nazie the Nazis for sheer dictatorial approach—or the black market or other unsavory aspects of planlessness among the administrators, they are not those of the ideals the western democracies would want them to have to replace the indoctrinations of Hitler.

Despite hunger and even possible starvation there will still be many millions left, enough to swing the balance of Europe, and of the world. "You cannot blame us here," I was told by one military official in Munich. "It is you people at home who have lost interest in our work. If the people in North America could only be made to realize that on the success or failure of our work depends their future peace."

That they will have to live in a world which right here in Germany is building up enough political dynamite to blow the lid off seems tensely forgotten by them, they still talk about what we will do to the Germans when they should be worried that the people here will do to them and our world if we fail to organize them and somebody else will get them. We are successfully policing their bodies, but what forces will finally win their minds if we fail?

Are To Be Made In Area Around Churchill

OTTAWA.—The Canadian Army is conducting a series of tests of service vehicles in the area around Churchill, Man., this summer, it was announced here.

A brief statement said: "Vehicle trials are being carried out during the summer of 1946 at Churchill, who lost his left leg in Italy, and is now preparing to lay out the painting and decorating business of his employer-trainer in Vancouver, B.C. Bailey was discharged from Shugborough Hospital just a year ago, went to work on the Vancouver street railway, but switched to training on the job as a painter-decorator under R. Shearing. Shearing had intended to train his son, also an 'army' man, from World War II, to take over the business, but his son preferred other work so Bailey was given the opportunity. He completed his training last December."

Employed, part-time, by Palm Dalries in Edmonton before the war, Bailey left school to join the army in February, 1940. He went overseas with the Royal Edmonton Regiment and was employed as a driver in England and Italy until he was discharged in September, 1944.

The co-operation of Canadian citizens in assisting old veterans, but especially those with physical disabilities, in re-establishing themselves has on the whole been most gratifying. One example is the case of Reg. Bailey was discharged from Shugborough Hospital just a year ago, went to work on the Vancouver street railway, but switched to training on the job as a painter-decorator under R. Shearing. ## Fires In Our National Parks Constitute A Heavy Loss And Prevention Must Be Taken

ONE of the chief attractions of Canada's national parks is their forest cover. Fires in the national parks constitute one of the greatest menaces to the enjoyment of these areas. They not only destroy scenic beauty, but may ruin watersheds, destroy wildlife, buildings and other valuable property, and sometimes human life.

Canadians have access to some of the most famous and desirable natural playgrounds in the world. Twenty-six parks, covering more than 25,000 square miles, provide recreation for all. The wealth from these parks during the coming years cannot be calculated. During the last ten years 8,148,230 tourists visited the parks. This figure may be doubled and trebled in the next ten years.

From 1935 to 1941 fires in national parks have caused loss and damage exceeding $781,000. Over the same period 653 fires burned over 123,574 acres of park lands, destroying 8,951 thousand board feet of timber and 105,632 cords of wood. These figures do not include the cost of suppression or reforestation. The loss in birds and wild game cannot be counted.

Loss by fire is not measured in dollars and cents. When a fire rages and a forest the destruction has already begun. If the fire has consumed the surface soil it may take generations for nature to rehabilitate this land. On the other hand, if the fire is confined to the forest growth it would take many years to replace the trees destroyed. The time to replace forest growth depends on the species to be grown, the latitude, altitude, rainfall and nature of the soil. A park without trees is like a playground without children. Furthermore, fire destroys more game than hunters.

The most prevalent cause of fire is human carelessness. Some 85 per cent of all fires can be placed in this category. Tobacco smokers account for a great number. Some 15 per cent of fires are attributed to lighting of natural causes. However, fire should not be assigned to this cause without at least good circumstantial evidence. Other causes of fires are carelessness of campers, berry pickers, hunters, fishermen, industrial operations, public works, and incineration. Fourteen per cent of all fires are placed in the unknown category, but usually they too are caused by carelessness.

One might ask how carelessness can be the cause of the majority of fires. During the last 10 years every fire occurring in the national parks has been carefully recorded. The location of each fire and the area have been noted on maps. These show that most of the fires were originally started along main highways and roads, indicating that they must have been started by human agency.

The Dominion Forest Service in attempting to reduce losses by fire, has introduced the most modern technical method of fire weather forecasting. Today emphasis is placed on pre-suppression measures to reduce fire hazards. An index of fire hazard is computed from daily records of rainfall, evaporation, relative humidity and wind velocity by means of special equipment. From data so collected and correlated tables are prepared for the use of a field staff in estimating the forest fire hazard. Several of the western parks have been equipped for the operation of this system. The degree of fire hazard is categorized as follows: extreme, high, moderate, low and nil.

After data has been supplied that the fire hazard is increasing, the superintendent and fire warden service prepare for emergency. Men and equipment are strategically located to meet the fire danger. Such equipment includes the latest in power pumps, hand pumps, fire hose, plunges, shovels, first-aid, food and all requisites for successfully fighting fires. The patrol system is used extensively during periods of extreme fire hazards. Lookout towers are so situated throughout the larger parks as to command a wide area and give accurate locations on map of where a fire may start in the region.

Bearing on a fire are taken by means of the alidade or firefinder. Bearings obtained from two or more look-out towers furnish the accurate location of a fire. Other equipment used in observing towers includes compass, theodolites and compasses. Telephone lines of two-way radios link the towers with district headquarters. Such communication is very important in fighting fires. Two-way radio is employed to maintain communication between headquarters and actual fire fighting operations.

Most parks also have a modern telephone system. Contact with district headquarters is always maintained and immediate reinforcements can be specially met. With weather bureau fire-lookout towers, emergency lookouts and patrols working in perfect harmony, the spread of fires is considerably diminished. Aircraft are used only for observation and making equipment and personnel promptly to large fires.

Canada's national parks are areas of outstanding beauty and interest which have been dedicated to the people of Canada for their enjoyment. Tourists are attracted to these great

The Kaiser's Visit

School Was In Disarray When They Started His House

I do remember one fire due in my extreme youth which might have had the highest results and changed the history of the world.

The visiting celebrity was no less than the Kaiser. We were not allowed to fire blank, but the Kaiser's house might be started. So the ragged clanking of hammers went on until suddenly the very earth seemed to be shaken by one solitary round of blank. People were aghast. So was the Kaiser's charger. It careered with him violently round the field, backing and kicking, while an agitated staff could do nothing but leave him and his horse to their devices.

The Kaiser stood this tormented very well. But no man could have been so angry as he was when he had finally subdued the horse. He at once changed horses and rode straight off the field. The school was in disarray. If high authority could have had hands on the writhed leg who had done this, either by accident or design, he would most certainly have been expelled. But I need not say that his identity is so far as I know shrouded in mystery to this very day.

But supposing that the Kaiser had been thrown, as he looked like being several times, and supposing he had broken his neck—what then? Perhaps no World War No. 1, and perhaps thereby no World War No. 2.—The Navy (London).

THE CARNIVAL QUEEN

The Didsbury Lions Club is holding a Carnival Queen Contest in conjunction with its Jubilee celebration on August 14th and four candidates are entered. These candidates are Miss Olyvyn Hughes, Miss Jean Krebs, Miss Gwyneth Morgan and Miss Mary Wood, and they are now soliciting votes in town and country.

The purpose of the contest is to raise funds for the project being sponsored by the Lions Club, the Didsbury Community Swimming Pool, and while you are asked to buy votes for your favorite contestant, it must be remembered that your purchase is a donation to this worthy cause—not a contribution to the candidate soliciting the votes. With this in mind you are asked to buy votes to the amount of your donation to the Swimming Pool Fund.

There is no doubt as to the necessity of a swimming pool in Didsbury. We really need it for the pleasure and health of our young men and women. So let us all boost for the pool now by having as many votes as possible for one of the contestants in the Carnival Queen Contest, and supporting the Jubilee celebration in every possible way.

WEDDINGS

MISNER — DYCK

The Church of the Nazarene in Calgary was the scene of a quiet wedding on Monday, July 15th when Esther Heien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Dyck of Didsbury, became the bride of Mr. Ernest Misner of Calgary.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of wedding music played by Mrs. H. Erb. She chose a white sheer gown studded with silver, a trailing veil, and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Miss Margaret Dyck acted as bridesmaid and wore a corselet gown of pale yellow sheer, carrying a bouquet of mauve sweet peas and carnations. Mr. Chester Misner, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

During the signing of the register Miss Sarah Dyck sang "Oh Perfect Love."

A reception was held at the Mandarin Gardens for about 24 friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Misner left for a short honeymoon and on returning will reside in Calgary.

WHEAT YIELDS, STUBBLE AND SUMMERFALLOW

(By H. G. L. Strange)

An interesting survey—with 2,758 prairie farmers co-operating has recently been made on the yields of wheat on stubble and summer fallow fields respectively, for the 1945 crop.

It is found that in areas where yields were definitely lower than average, around 5 bushels on stubble and 10 bushels on summer fallow, that summerfallow yields averaged 10½, higher than stubble, but that in areas which enjoyed average yields, that is around 12 bushels on stubble and 20 bushels on summerfallow, the summer fallow yielded on the average 7½ more than stubble; and that in stubble around 17 bushels to the acre and summerfallow 26 bushels, that summerfallow yielded on the average only 57½ more than did stubble.

There are lessons to be learned from this. Apparently in areas which often have low yields then it pays the farmer to sow his wheat only on summerfallow each year, but in areas which usually enjoy average or better than average yields, then summerfallow should only be done occasionally and only as a means of controlling weeds, for obviously if summerfallow yields only 50 to 70 percent over stubble, it is not a paying proposition to sow wheat on summerfallow if it can possibly be avoided.

SOURCES OF FARM WEALTH

Livestock remained its ascendancy as the most prolific source of farm wealth in the calendar year 1945, cash returns from all livestock sales totalling $359 million as compared with $306 million for sales of grain, seeds and hay.

RED CROSS NOTES

Notwithstanding shortages in lines of drinkables and eatables, the Red Cross Booth at the Fair was a big success. Thanks are extended to the Directors and Mr. C. E. Reber, Secretary of the Fair Board, also to the willing helpers, Misses Joyce Morgan, Gwyn Morgan, Margaret Hanson, Vivian Cathness, Mrs. H. Gillrie and Mr. George Gerltz, who gave the spirit of the Fair, and the Public for purchasing so generously.

The total number of articles made by the women of the Didsbury district, town and country, from 1939 to 1945 was 49,870 and were distributed as follows: Hospital supplies, 40,033; knitted articles, 1905; Refractor and Evacuator garments, quilts, blankets etc. 7754; miscellaneous articles, 36. This is one of the finest contributions in the province. Thank you ladies. The peace time work may not be so onerous, but still there is work to be done, and it is good to know that the women of this town and district are still on the job of alleviating the suffering of the ill-clad in other lands not so fortunate as Canada.

The building of the new 150-bed crippled children's hospital has not yet been commenced, but plans have been prepared, and the City of Calgary has donated a very fine site on the south hill near the Navy Barracks. The making of supplies for this hospital is going to again tax the generosity of the ladies, but it is our very own provincial project, and so great interest will be taken in it.

During the war thousands of lives were saved by the blood donated by the men and women of Canada. The Red Cross Society is now formulating plans for the supplying of blood and plasma to all the civilian hospitals in Canada, so as to keep right on saving lives of young and old, of babies and mothers. It will be a few months before this big scheme is working, but one of these days the Mobile Blood Donor Clinic will be paying us a visit, in fact many visits throughout the years to come.

A great many deaths from drowning, far too many, occur in Canada each year. Nearly every week end takes its toll. The Society has undertaken the job of reducing this toll. A swimming and water safety director has been appointed in each province. Mr. W.M. Ritson-Bennett of Calgary, is the Director for Alberta. Under his guidance, good swimmers will be taught to be good instructors. It is hoped soon to have the province organized and the recalcitrant water safety conscious.

ENEMIES OF FLAX

The fact that flax is little damaged by sawflies makes it a desirable crop for areas where these insects are prevalent. Wireworms also practically ignore the flax crop. However, grasshoppers and cutworms may cause serious damage unless poisoned bait is distributed. Grasshoppers are a frequent hazard to flax because they eat the small stems to which the bolls are attached. These stems may remain succulent after the other cereal crops have become hard and mature.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

CRAZY FOR MONEY

By ERNEST MILES

Copyright
 Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

BACK for the "Crazy For Money" program, Bud Watson was on the platform waiting to go on the air. If you listened to the show two weeks ago you will remember Mart Ringerly, the Master of Ceremonies, introduced Bud. He told how Bud had just been discharged from the Army and had volunteered for any stunt asked of him. But was to go out to Rose's Monarch Carnival in the Fair Grounds, and to act as a speller for Captain Billy's Bathing Beauties.

Captain Billy Swanson was there to take him out and as a prize Mart gave Bud half of a $100 bill, telling him to return in two weeks and relate his experiences, promising him the other half of the bill if he made good.

And now the program was on the air and Mart Ringerly was saying, "Hello! Hello! Hello! Tonight we are going to hear what happened to Bud Watson, who two weeks ago went out to the Carnival to be a speller on Captain Billy's Bathing Beauties show. Captain Billy is here, too, and I see he has brought a very pretty blonde with him. We'll start with you, Captain. Bud first, who is this lovely girl?"

"Oh, this is my daughter, Dora, who got herself involved in the stunt so I brought her along, too."

"This sounds mysterious, but tell us first what you did with Bud."

"Well, I told Bud to stand by the ticket booth and watch me do a couple of ballhooses. That's how my daughter got mixed up in it. For Dora was selling tickets and Bud paid a whole lot more attention to her than to me."

"There was a big crowd of folks who had heard your broadcast and had come out to hear the fun. They began calling for Bud so I brought him onto the platform. That big, red-headed six-footer just stood there tongue-tied. However, I managed to get him going and he did pretty well so I sent him inside to announce the events. The crowd swarmed in after him. We did a little bit of a business and Bud got better all the time."

"Then you would say Bud was a success and deserves the money?"

"He did all right but the Captain was paying more attention to my daughter than to the show. It ended up by my having him thrown into the tank of water."

"The audience was screaming as Mart asked, 'You mean to say the evening ended with Bud in the water?'"

"Oh, not that night, it was three nights later that happened."

"What in the world has three nights later got to do with it? We'd better get Bud to straighten this out. Bud, tell us what happened."

"I did the best I could."

"But," asked Mart, "how in the world did you get thrown into the tank three nights later?"

"Oh, I was crazy about the girl in the booth and went back each night determined to make her like me. I hung around but she wouldn't talk. Captain Billy got madder and madder and tried to chase me away. On the third night he had a couple of fellows throw me into the tank."

"Keep going, Bud," said Mart, while the crowd roared, "you really got yourself all wet, didn't you?"

"I was certainly wet and just as I got out of the tank Dora came back with the cash and the show. When she saw what had happened she let out a yell and chased those fellows out. Then she turned and gave Captain Billy a tongue-lashing. I didn't know until then she was his daughter."

"She seems to have begun to take an interest in you at last. What did she do then?"

"Now you're dry again," said Mart, as the audience applauded, "is that the end of the story?"

"Oh, there's lots more of it because the Captain was still hostile. But I got along fine with Dora and I kept going every night. She told me she had liked me right from the start but thought maybe I was just another flirt."

"Ha, ha, romance seems to have blossomed," said Mart and "let's hear what Captain Billy has to say."

"I didn't like it at first because Dora is only 18 and I've been both father and mother to her. Her mother died when she was three. But Bud is a persistent guy. I could see Dora had fallen hard for him. Bud was just out of the army and had no idea as to what he was doing. I just goes to show you never know what will happen on this show. Bud, here is the other half of that $100 bill. Good luck to both of you."

"Thank you very much, it has been a wonderful experience," said Bud and passed the bill over to Dora. "Thank you," said Mart. "Use the woman who wins. Tell us, Dora, what are you going to do with that money?"

"Well, Mr. Ringerly, Bud promised it to me towards the finest trousseau a girl ever had, but Bud is as honest as a baby. He's a real Valentine, and we're going to be very happy."

"I am sure you will be," said Mart, "and Bud may have been crazy for money but he certainly is wise in his choice of a wife."

GIRL SWIMS 13 MILES—Swimming 13 miles in seven hours, Patricia Smith, 19, is recovering in hospital at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., after surviving a tragedy on Lake Michigan. Her father, a wealthy shipbuilder, and three guests on their 33-foot sloop drowned when the vessel capsized in a sudden squall.

Mary Louis of Chicago was one of the guests who drowned when the Smith sloop overturned. Miss Smith said she loved Mary, who had a lifeboat, for several hours "until I just couldn't hang on any more. I lost my grip and she vanished in the waves." The lone survivor thinks the vessel was caught in the fringe of a tornado.

Conserve Timber

The Great Loss From Fires Has Been Stressed

The current slogans urging Canadian manufacturers to export should carry a warning that export is conditional upon conservation of natural resources. Garfield Weston, well-known industrialist said in a message to the Canadian Forestry Association.

"More than $300,000,000 of annual exports from Canada derive from the pulp and paper mills. This is greater than our sales of gold or wheat. The pulp and paper industry stands first in total wages paid and in capital invested."

About 6,000 of our people find means to incinerate 100,000,000 cubic feet of the national wood supply every 10 months. Export stops on lands the fire passes over. And a gap of 50 to 100 years may ensue before the burned district comes to life again."

Farm Research

Agricultural Groups See The Need For Further Information

An increased demand for the services of agricultural economists was forecast by Dr. R. E. Booth, head of the Dominion Agricultural Department's Economics Division in an address to the 17th annual meeting of the Canadian Agricultural Economics Society at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

The Economics Division must provide information useful to farmers, those marketing agricultural products and governments dealing with the farmers' industry. Dr. Booth said.

Since establishment of the division in 1929, much of the initial work had been to build up factual information on problems faced by the individual farmer. During the war, much of the research had been curtailed, but the division had helped in developing and administering numerous farm policies.

Practically every type of activity carried on before the war was represented in requests made to the division by agricultural groups throughout the country for additional research work.

THANKS CANADA

Viscountess Alexander Grateful For Help Given During The War

Large supplies of oranges and milk, large newspapers and envelopes which were used only once are details of Canadian life which impress anyone arriving from Britain, Viscountess Alexander said.

Speaking to the Ottawa Women's Canadian Club, the Governor-General's wife told her hearers of her children's excitement at the thought of coming to Canada and their delight with the trip.

"They have made themselves completely at home, so much so they have needed some firm handling," she said.

"It was my husband's and my idea that we should keep our children out of school until next September, until they became accustomed to their new home. But I won't be here 10 days when I knew ours was not a wise decision, and in a few more days I sent them off to school."

Lord Alexander thanked the women of Canada for their help to Britain during the war. The Red Cross had helped to finance 100 war nurses, the Junior Red Cross had sent comforts, the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire had sent clothing, the Kinmen Club milk, and the Queen's Canadian Food Kitchen utensils and household goods.

SELECTED RECIPES

BAKING HINTS

Before starting to mix a cake, read the recipe carefully, be sure that all the ingredients are at hand, and that the process of putting them together is thoroughly understood.

Use only the best materials. Good quality shortening and butter gives a pleasing flavor and using a pure high strength baking powder that assures baking success.

Use fine or castor sugar, coarse sugar does not blend well with other ingredients. If the supply of sugar is limited, a good plan is to sift it, and use the coarse particles for general sweetening fruit, etc.

Measure all ingredients carefully, use the correct method of mixing, and bake as directed. Grease tins with lard, not butter. Pre-heat your oven using top and bottom heat, but when your cake is put in to cook turn off the top element for baking.

Cakes put in the oven at too low a temperature, cause excessive steaming and makes them heavy.

BUTTER BUNS

2 1/2 cups pastry flour
 1 cup brown sugar
 2 teaspoons Molasses vanilla
 1 cup butter or shortening
 2 1/2 beaten eggs
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon Maltose baking powder

Method—Cream butter, add sugar gradually, then the well beaten eggs. Sift 2 cups of flour with the baking powder and salt, combine the mixtures, and add flavoring. This should now be the texture of dough, add the remaining 1/2 cup of flour if necessary. Roll into small balls marking each one with a floured fork. Bake in a 250 to 275 oven for from 10 to 12 minutes. This makes 12 dozen butter buns and are delicious.

POSITION WANTED

The sergeant was trying to train an awkward squad of recruits. "Shut! About turn!" he roared. Then, as he viewed the hopeless mix-up, he went on: "As you were!"

Most of the men shuffled into the last position, but Private Jones stood still, looking vacantly ahead. "You!" snapped the sergeant. "I said 'As you were!'"

"I can't, sergeant," replied Jones, unhappily. "But you were 12."

Louis XIV had 412 beds. Some were decorated with pearls, silver and gold.

NAVY VISITS ALASKA

Visitors to the model Indian village near Ketchikan in Alaska, two members of the University naval training division, Bob Lohsinger and Don Maxwell, met papooses.

Outstandingly Good
"SALADA" TEA

"Yes, yes, of course I'm glad to see you—who's your cute friend with the crisp, crunchy, delicious Grape-Nuts Flakes?"

"Ha! Ha! I fooled you Jim! That's our new cook. She won't serve anything but malted barley. They give you carbohydrates for energy, protein for muscle, phosphorus for teeth and bones, iron for the blood, and other food essentials. They taste wonderful. There're good for you. They're easy to digest."

SMILE AWHILE

"Now, mada," can you pick out the man who snatched your bag?"

"Oh, I think so, Inspector—do I have three guesses?"

Aspiring Vocalist: "Professor, do you think I will ever be able to do anything with my voice?"

Perspiring Teacher: "Well, it might come in handy in case of a fire or shipwreck."

"Pa," said the subscriber's little daughter, "I know why editors call these fellows 'wags'."

"Why?"

"So the fellow who doesn't like what's printed will think that there are too many for him to lick."

Customer: "Can I exchange this unbreakable doll?"

Shop Assistant: "Is there something wrong with it?"

"You told me you hadn't any magnitudes," said the summer boarder, reproachfully.

"I haven't," said Farmer Home-spoon. "Then you see right around corner from St. Perkins's place. They ain't mine."

Jimmy told his mother he was going to be a preacher when he grew up. Upon being asked why, he replied:

"I'll have to go to church any way, and it's much easier to stand up and yell than to sit still and listen."

Far-Reaching Effect

Lack Of Baling Wire Means Less Feed For Livestock

The Wall Street Journal reports that manufacturers in the United States have been cutting down seriously on the production of baling wire. The price ceilings have made it unprofitable for the steel mills.

Lack of baling wire means less of hay; lack of hay means less feed for livestock; and that in turn means thinner meat animals for slaughter.

It all goes to show what a complex organism modern society has become. And it reveals the same old story, for want of a nail the shoe was lost, for want of a shoe the horse was lost.

Street Renamed

Greeks Show Their Appreciation For Assistance From Canada

Lycaebus street, prominent thoroughfare in Athens, was renamed Mackenzie King street in a ceremony July 1, 70th anniversary of the confederation of Canada.

The municipal council of Athens said the street was renamed in recognition of the gratitude of the Greek people to the Canadian Prime Minister and the Canadian people for the moral and material assistance which has been repeatedly extended to this country.

Stands of grain are excellent in all parts of the district and haying had a large crop will be harvested this fall.
